LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1963

Be it remembered that the Senior Class of 1963, being as a whole of supposed sound mind and memory, do make this our next to the last will and testament, hereby bequeathing and devising as follows:

Arthur Texeira relinquishes his position on the Nat'l Honor Society to Noel Walker.

Diane Hildebrand leaves her infectious smile to Sandra Hall.

William Stoltz finally leaves the Cashen girls.

Laurie Dutch leaves her 27 year subscription for "Esquire" to Richard Rogers.

Irene Packard gives a slightly used playbook and Prom Queen's crown to anyone who can fill her shoes.

Neal Hanlon leaves his John Birch membership card to Mr. Colbert.

Patricia Gomes wills her athletic prowess to Hannah Cornwell.

Jeffrey Bussiere leaves his devil-may-care attitude to Fran Larkin.

Carolyn Caton gives her winning smile to anyone on a "blue" day.

Jane Donnelly leaves her love for dancing to Jill Barker.

Robert Hall leaves his casual, dignified, self-assured manner to Robert Johnson.

Laurie Grindell leaves the smoke hole for the first time.

Donald Perkins reluctantly yields his naivete to Pam Morgan.

Erica Higgins leaves for Hope College.

Ellen Meehan leaves her Promptness to Robin Grindell.

Richard Ward bequeaths 27 pairs of red socks to anyone with courage to wear them.

Cathy McGillen leaves room for more of the family.

John Gavin leaves his batting average to Fritz Woodruff.

Adelia Dyer gives a place in her mother's column to anyone who's always in the news.

Betsy Gardner leaves "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue" to Linda Donnelly.

Anthony Hancock leaves remorsefully.

Carolyn Pena wills her good humor to Ben Eklof.

Richard Stephens leaves his adroitness at waiting on tables.

Janet Swanson leaves her little finger and her ability to wrap people around it to Sally Symmes.

David Enos leaves his out-of-town girl friends to the junior boys.

Suzanne Winston gives her rousing cheerleading ability to Eileen Hall.

William Jussila gives his Corvette to anyone who will take it.

Bonnie Barrett leaves her boredom to Jeannette Cashen.

Phyllis Strout bestows her inner calm on Jonathan Porter.

Mark McKenney leaves his "greasy kid's stuff" to Bob Hebel.

Kathy Meehan hands over a pair of used glasses to Sue Patch.

Peter Jorgensen leaves that admirable grin to Bryan McKenney.

Gladwin Kelley gives her good manners to Ralph Piccolo.

Karen Nickerson bequeaths her dislike for Latin to underclassmen.

Last but certainly not least, Howard Cahoon leaves his basketball to Tommy Peterson.

Jovially submitted,

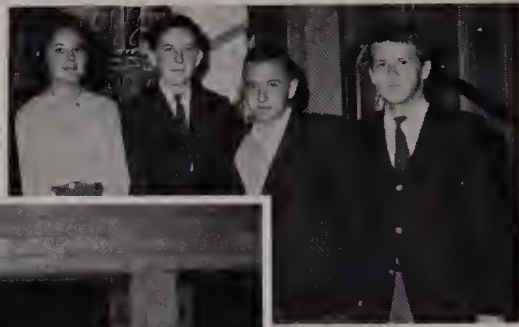

Anthony Hancock

Erica Higgins.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1963

The Class of 1963 entered H. H. S. as freshmen in the fall of '59. With a little help from Mr. Letts and Mr. Drew, our class advisors, we put our best foot forward and with Rick Cahoon, President; Dave Coleman, Vice President; Jane Donnelly, Secretary; and Bill Jussila, Treasurer, we formulated one of the few class constitutions. Having decided to expand our social life, our heads came together which resulted in a Valentine dance, "Cupid's Caper." Although we lost Danny MacDonald, Richard Adams, James Smith, Reggy Speight, Charles Caldwell, Carlton Ellis and David Coleman, we were blessed with the beauty of Janet Swanson, the suaveness of Neal Hanlon and the reserved nature of Robert Hall.

The following year with a little more experience and as very sophisticated sophomores, we found ourselves under the care of Mr. LaFrenier and Mr. Colbert. The loudest and biggest success of the social year was another dance, "The Roaring 20's." Elected officers were Peter Jorgensen, President; Erica Higgins, Vice President; Diane Crowell, Secretary; and Bill Jussila again Treasurer.

Following a fine but short summer vacation, we returned as juniors under the supervision of Mr. Ebbett. We lost Gloria Gauthier, Mary Jane Falla, Penny Ellis and Kathy Derwin but gained Karen Nickerson and Laurie Dutch. To lead us were Peter Jorgensen as President, Jane Donnelly as Vice President, Erica Higgins as Secretary and Bill Jussila as Treasurer.

Because we were frantic for money, our activities included two dances and two car washes. One of the most important events in our high school careers was receiving class rings in December. May arrived very quickly, and we rushed hectically to complete preparations for the Junior Prom. It was called "Fantasia" and was a gala affair. As the year drew to a close, Irene Packard and Bill Jussila became marshals for graduation exercises, while many of us sang in the chorus.

September came, and we were glad to be Seniors as last. Mrs. Ford was at the helm this year. Absent from our ranks at the beginning of and during the school year Barbara Trott, Nancy Eastman, Manley Boyce and Diane Crowell. However, Diane Hildebrand was a welcome addition to the class. Officers for our Senior year were Peter Jorgensen as President, Robert Hall as Vice President, Betsy Gardner as Secretary and, naturally, Bill Jussila as Treasurer.

Our first activity was the class play, "The Admirable Crichton," under the capable direction of Mr. LaFrenier. Rehearsals were long and tedious, but the play was an enormous success. The next venture was a Christmas Dance. Decorations were marvelous, but few came that evening to enjoy them.

Much to our amazement and enjoyment, April 15th rolled around and most members of the class boarded a bus which took us to Providence. From there we went by train to Washington for four days and then to New York for one. We returned home all too quickly, exhausted but happy. Getting back to the daily routine, we started to prepare for graduation and class day.

We stand today in caps and gowns on the threshold of our long-awaited graduation wondering about the past four years which have gone by so quickly. As we go our separate ways, we wish to thank all our teachers and parents who have patiently encouraged and helped us during our school life.

CLASS PROPHECY

It is June 13, 1973, the tenth anniversary of my graduation from Harwich High School. I have decided to take the day off to enjoy New York City. My first stop is a newsstand. On the cover of Look there is a picture of Diane Hildebrand, who is a fashion model and cover girl, and has aspirations of becoming a great actress.

Buying a newspaper, I enter a restaurant. I am led to a table by the hostess. She looks familiar and I recognize her; it is Bonnie Barrett. She tells me that she opened "Bonnie's Place" five years ago, and is doing quite well. While waiting for my lunch, I glance at the newspaper. The headlines read, "U.S. Astronauts Land on the Moon." The commander of the astronauts is Howard Cahoon! I have always known that Rick would go far. Reading further, I discover that Richard Ward had designed the rocket used by the astronauts. On the political scene, the race for Senator is going strong in Massachusetts; David Enos is confident of re-election.

As I turn to the inside of the newspaper, I notice a story about the Peace Corps. Erica Higgins, a graduate of Hope College, and a member of the Peace Corps, is teaching English in Tanganyika. The next story, that catches my eye, is about the great inventor, Mark McKenney. His newest invention is called "Curl-it." Spray it on your hair, and in seconds you have instant curls. From the business page, I see that Ellen Meehan is a successful woman on Wall Street. Her favorite pastime is buying and selling A. T. & T. Reading the society page, I see that Janet Swanson, a graduate of Vassar, is engaged to a Prince. The couple plan their royal wedding in Greece. Now I turn to my favorite column, "Dear Adelia." Her advice is read throughout the nation. Bill Jussila has made news as a test driver for General Motors, testing Corvettes.

As I pay for my lunch, I see Pat Gomes coming into the restaurant. Pat is a secretary for a successful brain surgeon.

My next stop is the United Nations. The first person I see is Jane Donnelly, a French interpreter. Jane is sharing an apartment with Karen Nickerson, who has just passed her bar examination and is working for a law firm. Having left the United Nations, I stop in to see Laurie Dutch, a fashion designer. She has her own salon called, "The House of Dutch." Laurie says she has heard from Tony who is an animator at the Walt Disney Studios. He is in charge of the million dollar cartoon version of Cleopatra. I tell her that I have often seen Donald Perkins and Jeffrey Bussiere. Donald works for the Bureau of Internal Revenue and Jeffrey is an electrical engineer for General Electric.

After doing some shopping, I rush over to the television studio to see my favorite girl singer, Carolyn Caton, who is going to sing on the Ed Sullivan Show. We discuss our favorite topic, old school days.

I learn from Arthur that he is Vice President of New York's largest steel corporation. When I ask him how he reached the top so quickly, he replies, "It's simple when you marry the boss' daughter."

On a recent tour I saw many of our classmates. While at Warner Brothers Studios, I saw Peter Jorgensen, who is working on his new movie, "Space Look Out, Here I Come!" I learned from Peter that Phyllis Strout also works at Warner Brothers in the makeup department, as a hair stylist. I left Warner Brothers, and stopped at Romanoff's for lunch. I discovered that the head chef was Billy Stoltz. That year of "Chef's Course" really paid off for Billy.

I knew that Neal Hanlon was a Private Investigator with offices located on 77 Sunset Strip, and decided to pay him a visit. From Neal I learned that Laurie Grindell, having married Dr. Lindholm, lives in San Francisco. She divides her time between her family and P. T. A. duties.

When I arrived at the airport to board a plane for Boston and Harwich, I was greeted by a pleasant stewardess, Suzanne Winston. From Sue I learned that our Pilot was John Gavin, who had been a distinguished Air Force pilot prior to working for T. W. A. When I arrived in Boston it was quite late, so I decided to stay for the evening.

Since I was near Massachusetts General Hospital, I thought I'd see if Cathy McGillen was still working there. She was quite surprised to see me. During our conversation I learned that she is head nurse of pediatrics. She had received a letter from Kathy Meehan, who is combining business with pleasure, running a gift shop on the luxury liner S. S. United States. Later that evening I saw Carolyn Pena, who, having graduated from Katherine Gibbs, applied for a job at the John Hancock Insurance Company where she is employed.

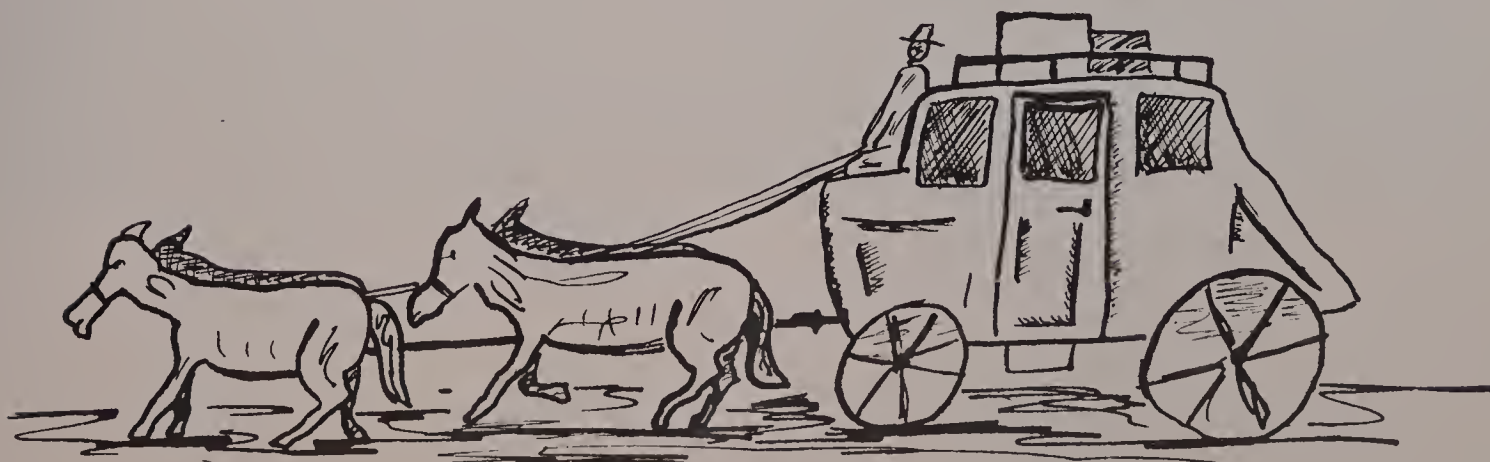

In the morning I rented a car and started for Cape Cod. I was stopped by a heavy-set state trooper whom I recognized as Richard Stephens. Although I didn't get a ticket, I was severely reprimanded. My first stop in Harwich was the Cape Cod Trust Company where I was greeted by the smiling face of Gladwin Kelley. She informed me that she has been working in the bank for several years and expects a promotion soon.

I visited Harwich High and I was not surprised to find Irene Packard as the gym teacher. From other faculty members I learned that she had received an award for coaching the Girls' Basketball Team to its fifth straight championship. As I left the school yard, I saw a woman riding a horse. It was Betsy Gardner, who has turned her love for horses into a profitable business. She runs a riding school during the summer on the Cape, and during the winter races her horses in Florida.

Seeing a sign that read "Bob Hall, Landscape Architect," I thought I'd pay him a visit. Bob is doing very well. He is now designing the new Kennedy home at Great Sand Lakes.

The success of our classmates has given Arthur and me a feeling of pride. We sincerely hope that you have enjoyed this brief look into their future.

The middle of the knee?

I think he did it this way . . .

The better part of studying - pretending.

There's my bubble gum!

Tender loving care

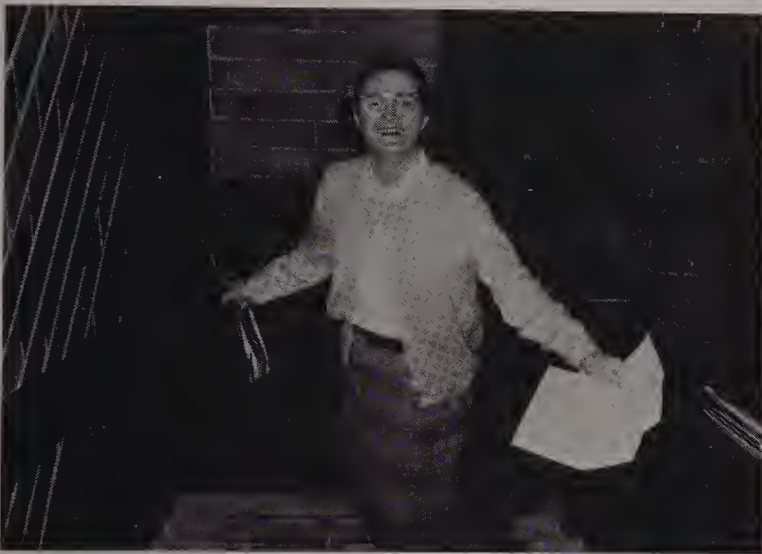

Young, impressionable minds . . .

Don't get it stuck again!

Hop on, Sweetheart!

Everyone has to start at the bottom!

Let me think . . .

One brushing and GLEAM . . .

Next time, take the bus

When you're smiling . . .

This dance is swinging!

Mr. McKay and his harem . . .

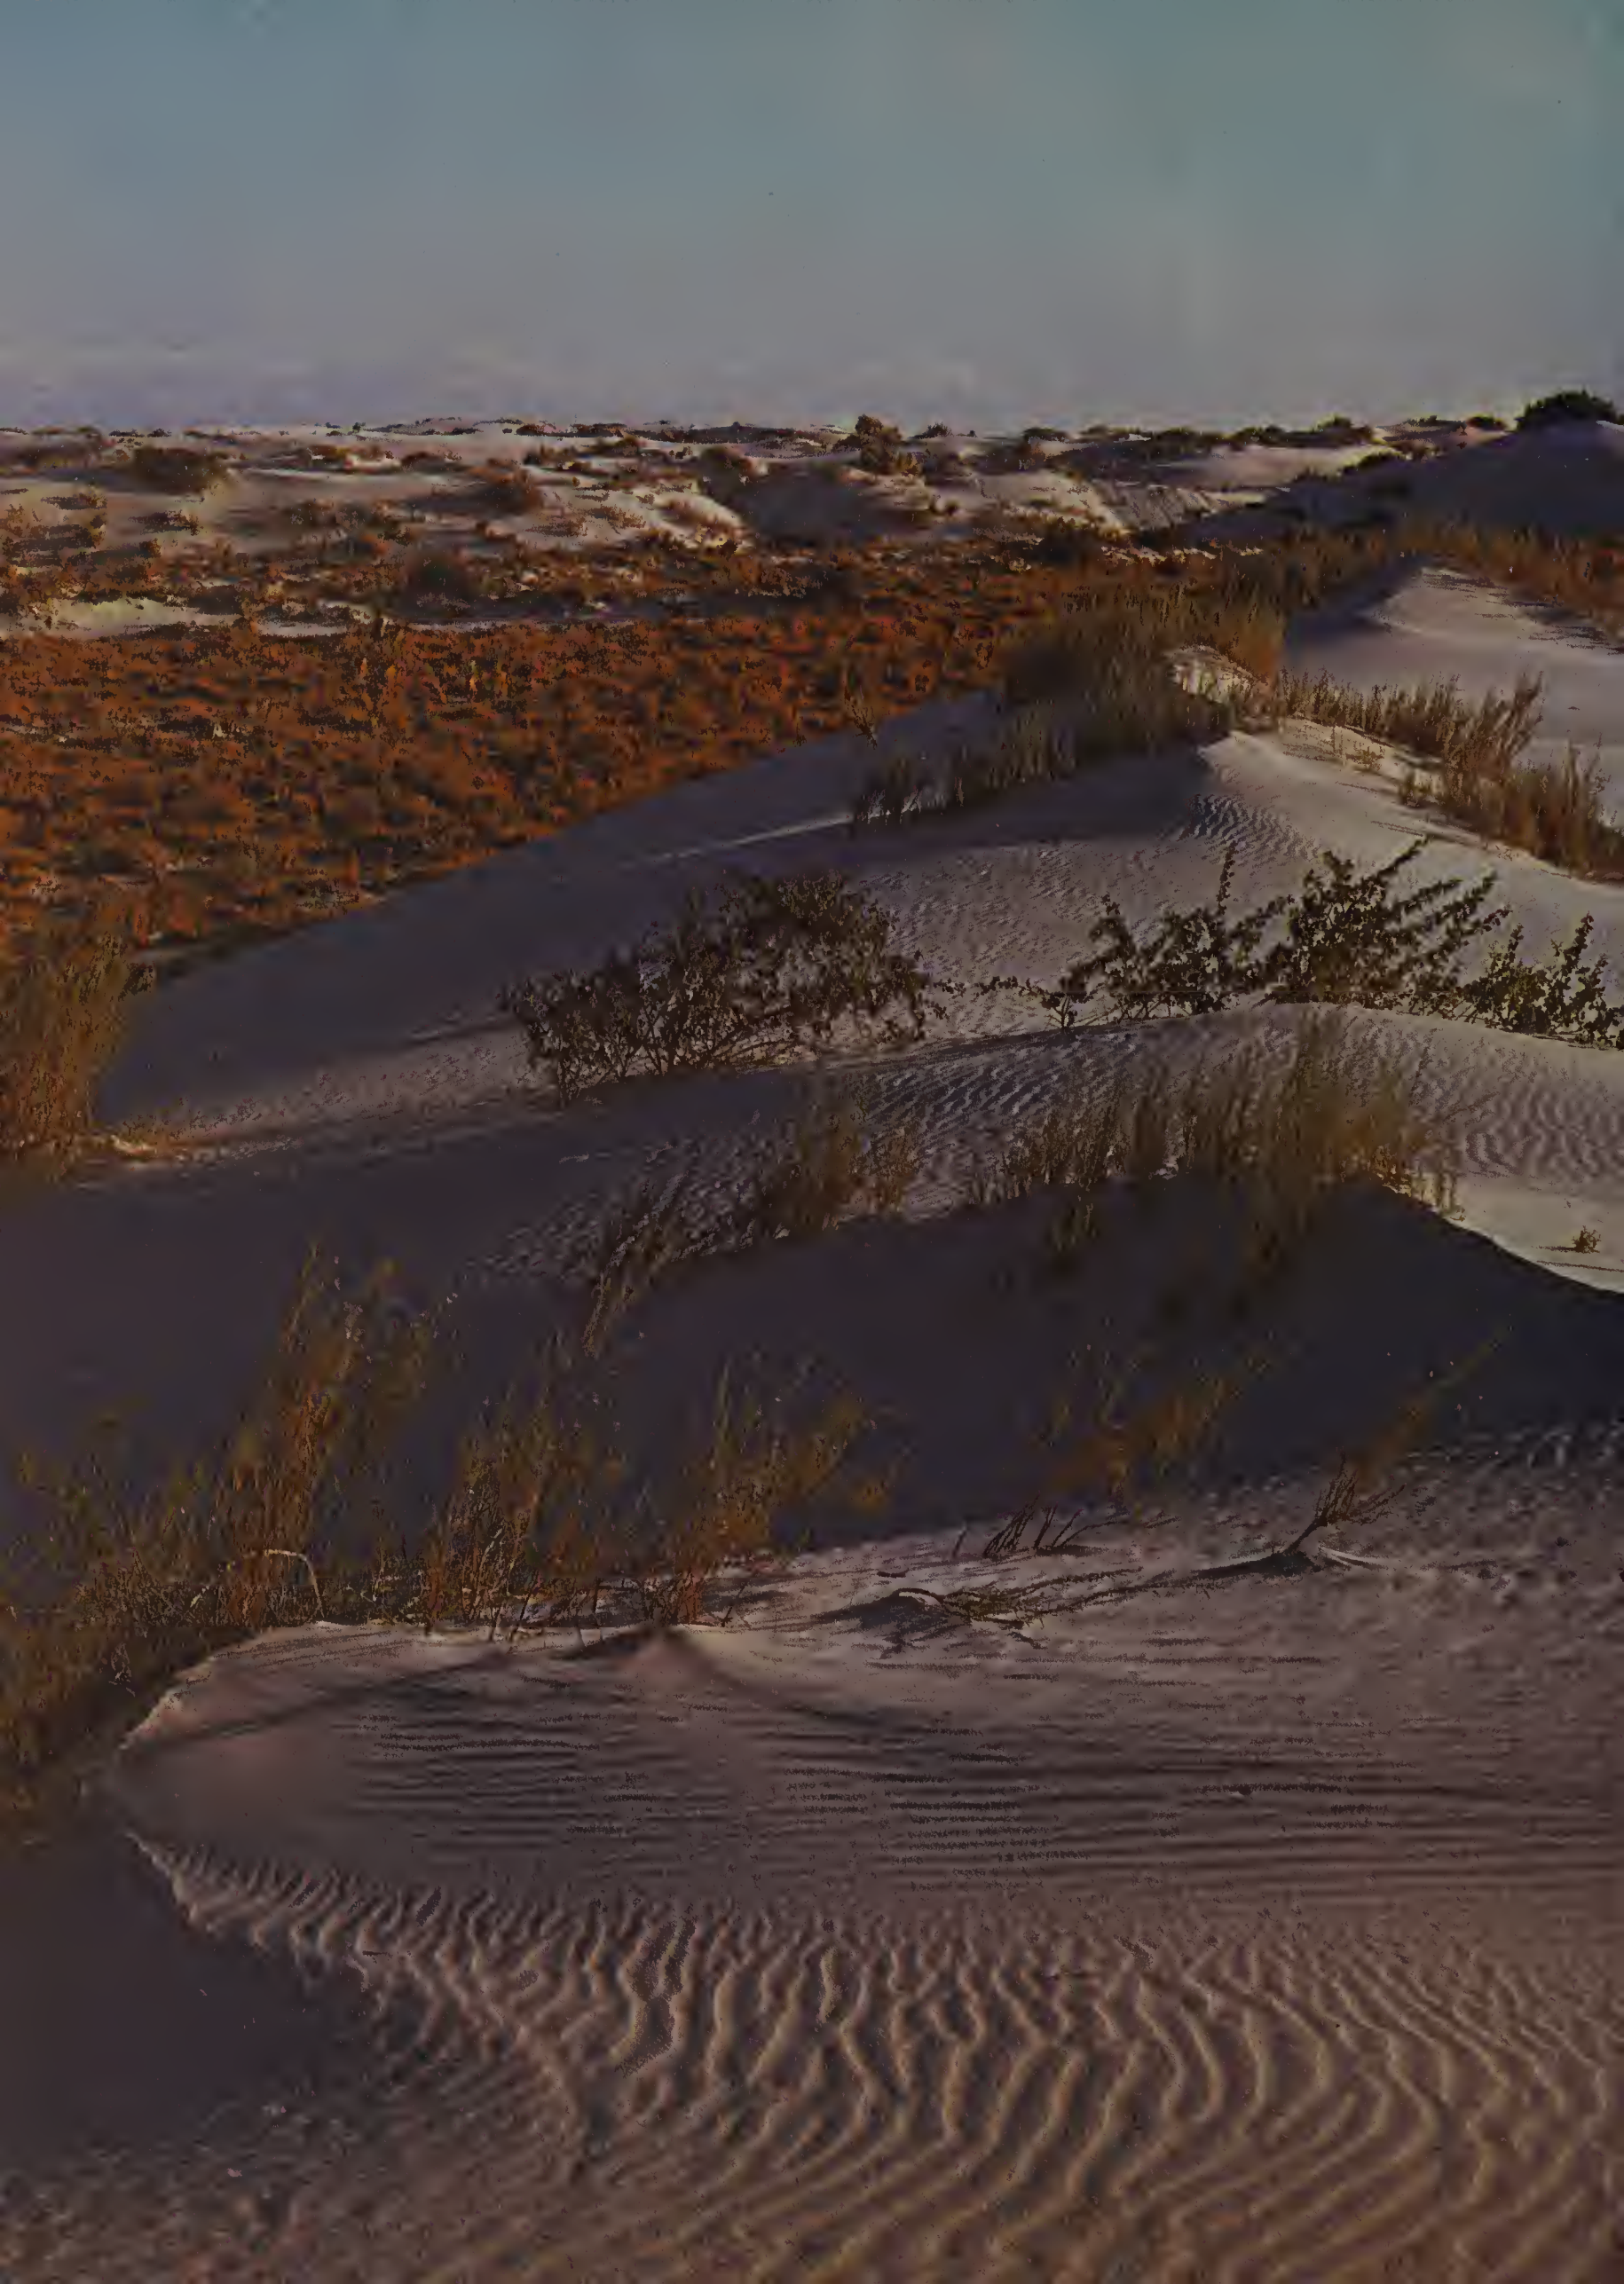

Billy and his harem . . .

Eyes left - right - front!!!

Our flowering youth.
